

What is this course about?

This course will cover, through a critical lens, key events and issues throughout our country's history that led to the formation of Canadian society and identity as we know it. We examine Canada's role, participation and impact socially, politically and economically in WW1, the 1920s and 1930s, WW2 and the Post-War era up to modern day.

What will I learn?

- What is the historical inquiry process?
- What are different ways to interpret & understand historical events?
- How to think critically about past and current events
- Topics & themes related to:
 - Social Justice
 - War and Peace
 - The Women's Movement
 - Economic growth and change

Example Assessments

Accompanying Unit quizzes and tests, tasks may include:

- Indigenous and Black Canadian change makers presentation
- WW1 Lost Artefact & WW2 Museum Website Projects
- Propaganda Poster Analysis
- Roaring 20s Critique
- Inquiry-based final project on social injustices (student choice)

What will I be doing in class?

- Applying the concepts of historical thinking and the inquiry process to events of the past and comparing how they impact today's modern society
- Examining primary and secondary sources related to the time periods covered to see what life was like back then
- Discussions, activities and inquiry tasks designed to demonstrate, practice and strengthen critical thinking skills

What is this course about?

This course will cover, through a critical lens, key events and issues throughout our country's history that led to the formation of Canadian society and identity as we know it. We examine Canada's role, participation and impact socially, politically and economically in WW1, the 1920s and 1930s, WW2 and the Post-War era up to modern day.

What will I learn?

- What is the historical inquiry process?
- What are different ways to interpret & understand historical events?
- How to think critically about past and current events
- Topics & themes related to:
 - Social Justice
 - War and Peace
 - The Women's Movement
 - Economic growth and change

Example Assessments

Accompanying Unit quizzes and tests, tasks may include:

- Indigenous and Black Canadian change makers presentation
- WW1 Lost Artefact & WW2 Museum Website Projects
- Propaganda Poster Analysis
- Roaring 20s Critique
- Inquiry-based final project on social injustices (student choice)

What will I be doing in class?

- Applying the concepts of historical thinking and the inquiry process to events of the past and comparing how they impact today's modern society
- Examining primary and secondary sources related to the time periods covered to see what life was like back then
- Discussions, activities and inquiry tasks designed to demonstrate, practice and strengthen critical thinking skills

CANADIAN HISTORY SINCE
WORLD WAR 1
(FRENCH IMMERSION)

CHC 2DF

CANADIAN HISTORY SINCE
WORLD WAR 1
(FRENCH IMMERSION)

CHC 2DF

